Government Takes Over

Control of Sugar
Washington, Nov. 21.—President Wilson to-day placed the government again in control of the nation's food supply by transferring the authority of food administrator to Attorney General Palmer.

Revival of the wartime functions of Administrator Hoover resulted directly from government efforts to avert a famine in sugar, but the powers delegated to the head of the department of justice will be used also to help put down the ever mounting cost of living.

Dr. Palmer's staff will begin immediately to build up a sugar distributing system which will locate all sugar stocks in the country. It will provide an equitable system of distributing supplies and will defeat any concentration of hoarding, officials said.

Plans, tentatively decided upon, provide for increasing the price of all sugar excepting the Louisiana crop for which a price of seventeen cents already has been fixed, to twelve cents a pound, wholesale.

Through this increase, new sources of supply are expected to be opened. With assurances that a fair margin of profit said to be about $1.54 a hundred pounds, would be allowed sugar refiners are ready to enter the Cuban markets and purchase all available stocks, it was stated.

Immediate action also is contemplated in curtailing the consumption of sugar by manufacturers whose products are not regarded as essential food. This will apply particularly to soft drink dealers and candy manufacturers.

While it has not been definitely determined, the cut in sugar supplies to these classes of trade probably will be about sixty per cent.

Arrangements have been completed for refiners to enter

METHODIST

The Cuban sugar markets immediately. The department, however, will exact a signed agreement with firms entering that trade to consign all of their purchases to this country. This will mean that American dealers will get a large proportion of the four million tons of raw sugar yet available in Cuba, officials said.

Normal consumption of sugar in the United States is about four million tons. In other years, about 3,000,000 tons was imported from Cuban field to which was added the average production of approximately 1,000,000 tons of native grown. The danger of a sugar famine will be greatest next month, it was said as stocks are rapidly being depleted and in many sections already exhausted, and the necessity for gathering all available supplies from outside becomes daily more urgent.

SERBIANS AT VAIL SCHOOL

Lyndonville, Nov. — The Theodore N. Vail School of Agriculture has been selected by the Serbian authorities for a group of young men from that country. In co-operation with a Serbian training committee in this country some fifty young Serbians have been sent to America by the Serbian authorities for the purpose of securing these young persons for services at home. The students have been located in various institutions of higher learning throughout the country. Some are in medical school, some in engineering institutions, while others are specializing in chemistry, physics, etc. All who are to follow a griculture are to be received by the Theodore N. Vail school. The Serbian agricultural authorities themselves selected this institution, and requested the privilege of sending students.

Eleven young men will reach Lyndonville shortly. These students are about twenty-one years of age, and have had an education equivalent to the freshmen work in our colleges and universities. Their expenses are paid by their government and they are required to return to Serbia within a period of four years or upon the completion of their studies. They are, moreover, required to promise that they will do all that they can to further the agricultural interests of their native country. It is expected that they will become teachers.

The practical nature of the instruction given at Lyndonville appeals strongly to the Serbian authorities as well as to the American committee assisting in this matter. Many citizens of Vermont have had warm sympathy with Serbia, and the opportunity for Vermont to be of real service in the development of that country is one that might be coveted by any state.

Interchurch World Movement

Co-operation instead of competition between churches was the key note at the sessions of the Vermont State Leaders Training conference of the Interchurch World Movement which was held in Burlington, from November 17 to 20.

At the close of the conference the report made by G. E. Robbins who acted as the registrar showed that 239 delegates had registered. It was said to be the largest representative gathering of church leaders that ever assembled for any co-operative purpose in the State of Vermont. The fact that Vermont was chosen for the 1st conference of the Interchurch World Movement was referred to by Dr. W. A. Davison, the superintendent of the Vermont Baptist Convention, in his address as the chairman of the conference committee at the opening session. Sixty-six similar conferences are to be conducted in December.

Repeatedly during the conference the fact was emphasized both the state and national leaders that the Interchurch World Movement was not organized for organic union of the churches but for co-operation to realize the common objectives of developing the spiritual resources of the church; of promoting the idea and practice of the stewardship that God is the owner of all things and that man is a steward responsible to God for the administration of trust funds and property on an unselfish basis; of encouraging the study of missions on a systematic basis and of placing before children and young people of the churches the idea of enlisting in the definite service of Christ as a life worker.

The Essex County Convention of the Interchurch Movement will be held at Island Pond, Dec. 1 and 2, at the Methodist Church.
